To The Seniors

SENIOR CLASS POEM

This page is just for fun; it's full of jokes and rhyme,
About the Senior girls and boys, all classmates of mine.

Once Anna Mae was invited to be a dinner guest;
The way she ate her food embarrassed all the rest,
She said, "I mix the peas with honey, I've done it all my life,
Sure, they do taste funny, but it keeps them on my knife."

Bradley with a worried look, to his Mother said,
"We come from dust and go back to dust as soon as we are dead."
" 'Tis true my son," she answered, and went on with her sewing,
He said, "That one underneath my bed, is he coming or going?"

Cloyd Lawrence always plants potatoes on St. Patrick's Day,
He wraps each one in paper first and people always say,
"Why do you do that? Does that give them extra size?"
He said, "Oh, no! I just do that to keep dirt out of their eyes."

Don Worthington has a teacher who bawled him out a fright,
Said, "Don, why do you scribble so? I can't read a word you write!"
He declares he can do better. It's true what he is telling,
If he writes so she can read it, she'll check him in his spelling.

Since Ella visited a dude ranch she hasn't been herself,
She's black and blue all over and eats all her meals from a shelf,
She said, "I'd never been on a horse, that's what makes me sore,
I only insisted on riding a horse that no one had ridden before."

Ronald Stanley one day came into Eugene's store,
And said, "These barrel crackers aren't good and what's more,
They have a mousy smell." Gene said, I do declare!
They can't smell like mice - the cat sleeps there."

Gloria bought herself a pretty bright blue sweater,
Asking her boyfriend if it didn't make her look much better,
"Don't you think," she asked, "It brings out my eyes of blue?"
Pop-eyed, he answered, "Not only that. It brings mine out too."

Jack Hicks took a ride on a noisy bus one day,
And spied Phyllis Stevenson sitting across the way,
She watched him quite intently - then said with a smile,
"I haven't heard a word you said for many and many a mile."
Jack looked at her quite puzzled, then said, "Are you dumb!
I never even said a word - I was a chewin' gum."

At school nearly every day,
Morris' feet get in the way,
The teacher with an angry glare,
Said, "Morris, what size do you wear?"
Says Morris, "My regular size is sevens,
But nines feel so good, I just get elevens."

Newman has a car which looks queer to say the least,
It looks red when going west and blue when going east,
Since he doesn't drive so well, he might have a wreck, you see,
Arguments of the witnesses in court? A minor technicality.

Ronda one day entered a quaint little store,
And asked to see some hankies, which they had galore..
A brisk young clerk said to her without ever stopping,
"Is it for wiping, wearing, washing, waving, or dropping?"
Ronda replied, "I don't care for any you are showing,
When I buy a handkerchief, I buy it for blowing."

My name is Kathryn but everyone calls me Kate,
And I always aim to keep myself up to date,
But once my teacher sent home a note - don't laugh,
Said she wished my Mom would give me a bath,
Well, Mom sent a note right back and did she ever tell her!
She wrote, "Kate ain't no rose! Learn'er, don't smell'er."

SENIOR PROPHECY

Well, after a busy day at the Hughes's Super Market, my husband, Connie and I started home. Viewing the great metropolis of which Alger had grown to be, we remember how small it was when we were in school. On reaching the city limits we came to a big farm now owned by Mr. and Mrs. Bradley Campbell. Bradley was busy doing the evening chores, while Ruby was working in her flower garden.

Continuing home, we turned on the radio and what should we hear but the band of one of my old classmates, Morris Gossard, and his vocalist was Miss Norma Linn. I hear they have made this partnership together for life. I wonder if Morris is still so particular about his curly hair.

Upon our arrival home, we heard the telephone ringing. When I answered, to my surprise, I recognized the voice of my girl friend, Kathryn Ann McGlaughlin, whom we called "Katie" in school. She is employed as a telephone operator of Bell Telephone Company. She is now residing in Reno, Nevada. I hear that wedding bells will be ringing soon. As Kathryn connected the wires, the voice of Newman Clapp was heard. He said he would arrive in Alger the following week to oversee an engineering job. Marjorie Whitaker is chief engineer in their home I found out.

As I was too tired to prepare dinner, we decided to go out for dinner at the Tropicana Room in Alger's leading hotel, owned by Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Harsh. Mary Belle is a very charming hostess. On our way to a table we met Mr. and Mrs. Paul Hopkins. Mrs. Hopkins is the former Miss Gloria Jean Mulholland. We decided to have dinner together and I inquired about Anna Mae Williams and learned that she has graduated from U.C.L.A. in California with high honors.

At the next table, we recognized Ronald Stanley, Jack Hicks, and Donald Worthington dining with three lovely girls. And I see that Jack still has his old habit of chewing gum. And believe it or not, Donnie has grown to be a giant of six feet tall. I see that Ronald is in the uniform of our U. S. Marines and I hear that Jack is a prosperous onion farmer. Donald is the coach of a famous basketball team.

On our way home, we stopped at the Aldora Dairy Farm for some ice cream. Mr. and Mrs. Cloyd Lawrence greeted us heartily. Mary Ann is a very cute farmer's wife.

Before retiring, I decided to look at a glamour magazine, and who should be on the cover but Phyllis Stevenson. The clothes she is wearing are designed by Miss Ella Nichols, who is a designer, and seamstress in New York. Miss Stevenson is a model for John Powers. Norman Hall has left Alger since Phyllis came to New York and is a broker now.

Well, will turn in now, as today was certainly an exciting day, since I have come in contact with the Seniors of 49.

Your Classmate,

Ronda Underwood

CLASS HISTORY

In the good old year of 1937, there were twenty-nine of us little Seniors enrolled in the First Grade. But only nine have completed the twelve years. They are as follows: Bradley Campbell, Jack Hicks, Cloyd Lawrence, Kathryn Ann McGlaughlin, Gloria Jean Mulholland, Ella Nichols, Ronald Stanley, Rhonda Underwood, Anna Mae Williams, And Donald Worthington.

One of our pupils came two or three years, went to another school, then returned to our class. This traveling pupil was Robert Hicks, who is now at Lima South.

In our last four years of high school we have lost nineteen pupils and gained one. Twelve of the nineteen are married now and some are going to other schools. Our pupil gained is Newman Clapp, who joined us in the eleventh grade.

Our teachers during our school years are as follows: Mrs.

made us all very happy. We were very anxious to pick them out, then when they came in the office we made a grand rush to get them. During this year we worked in the Chemistry Laboratory. This excited us, especially Donald Worthington, who found out that hydrogen will really explode. We were about all scared to death. A few other things happened too, such as mixing acids together to see if they will explode. Will they Morris? I'm sure they will.

After our Chemistry work, came the Junior-Senior Prom. This was held at the Elks Club at Findlay. After the Prom we walked around Findlay, then stopped at the Wedge, a restaurant, and ate a late lunch. Then we made our trip back home.

When we became Seniors we were very happy. This made us feel as if we had really grown up. We got out of many classes

Some of our favorite times were Valentines Day, Christmas, commencement. Everyone then looked forward to going to the new building. In our Junior year came the Junior play, which was a success. We had many hard times while learning our parts, but we got along all right. Then we recieved our class rings, which which thrilled us most. We had our pictures taken by Mr. Failor. We went to his studios, where we were given apples to eat while we waited until our turn. After our pictures were taken, we went to Lima. Some of us attended a wrestling match, while others took in a movie.

What we looked forward to next, was learning to type stencils, running the mimeograph machines, and working on the annual. This of course, was hard work and took lots of time, but we enjoyed every minute of it. Especially working with Mr. Spangler, our sponsor of this annual.

This concludes the years of fun and pleasure we have had in these twelve years of school life. We now know that "He who Labors conquers." Good luck to those who will soon be Seniors in our place.

Respectfully yours,
Gloria Mulholland

MAKES A DIFFERENCE

A man lived practically on the border between Minnesota & Wisconsin. For years he wasn't certain which State he lived in. Finally he got a State surveyor to make a special investigation of the problem.

"You live," decided the surveyor "in Wisconsin."

The farmer threw his hat into the air with great glee. "Thank Heavens, no more Minnesota winters."
